

Our mission

Enable Canadian directors, executives, policymakers, and regulators to confidently and swiftly lead Canada through a net-zero emissions transition with effective climate governance

Businesses have a twofold relationship with climate change. Corporate activities generate greenhouse gas emissions, which is causing climate change. At the same time, climate change poses serious material financial risks. Climate litigation is on the rise, putting pressure on companies to be accountable for their contributions to climate change.

Addressing climate risk requires effective climate governance, particularly as mandatory disclosure of climate-related financial information is gaining momentum in Canada & worldwide. It is paramount to take action now.

Our experts can help

We offer free, confidential, and private presentations to directors and trustees to help Canadian businesses to consider, manage, and disclose climate risks.

During the presentation, we can discuss the following themes:

- Risk management
- Legal duty
- Investment strategy
- Changing regulations
- Disclosure requirements
- Climate litigation

How it works

Format and content

We tailor our presentations based on your needs and questions. Each board is at a different stage in its understanding of climate risk and our goal is for you to govern with confidence.

Duration

Our presentations last between 30 minutes and 1 hour and a half.

Date

Based on the availability of your board.

Chosen expert

We will pair you with the expert that best suits your board (expertise, knowledge, industry).

Book a presentation ▶